Dear Kyle:

Thank you for this e-mail.

We'd be more than happy to share this message with our viewers. However, before we do that, we need the following answers and documents:

1- You state: "NBC retracted the information. It was retracted on air when it became apparent the information was not accurate." Can you send us the audio-video clip of NBC officially retracting the story on air, and stating that the information provided to them by their senior military source was false/inaccurate? We need to see documentation on this.

Because as you know, when you conduct Google News Search, using Erdogan-Germany-Asylum key words, hundreds of mainstream articles pop up quoting NBC news and re-reporting the false information put out and disseminated by NBC. I have not seen a single news article referring to NBC officially retracting the false story on air.

2- You state: "My tweet was deleted." Your tweet was on twitter for at least a couple of days past July 15. Not only that, as you know, deleting the tweet does not translate to 'retracting' the comment and informing readers that the information was 100% false. Why, in the last 10 days since the tweet and NBC false report you have not issued any explanation or on-record retraction to your viewers/readers?

3- For the last 5 days thousands of people have been messaging you and NBC, and asking for explanation, a response, on this false-reporting case. Why, instead of issuing a statement, or, providing an explanation, you and NBC have been blocking and ignoring these questions directed at you by thousands of people?

And finally, Newsbud and the Turkish Government via its Embassy have demanded that NBC issue a public explanation and official apology immediately- not only to us, but to all its viewers. I have to emphasize 'Immediately' here. Are you and your employer at NBC planning to issue this public apology? If so, when?

Regards,

Sibel Edmonds
